

Greening Your Business

with Ellen Hall, eco-consultant for Green Irene

Tuesday, August 25

11:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m.

A lunch 'n' learn session

Fee: $20

In tight economic times, saving energy and water makes a lot of sense. So if you're ready to reduce your operating costs, create a healthier workplace for your team, and attract green-minded customers and business partners, it's time to go green!

In this seminar, Green Irene eco-consultant Ellen Hall will discuss ways to start on the path to greening your office and implementing business practices that will create an efficient and healthy place to work.

You will learn ways to save money by reducing energy and water use, reducing workplace toxins, and improving indoor air quality. By incorporating the best tools and practices, you can help your organization's bottom line while benefitting your employees and the environment.

Find out how working green can help you work well!
