

Do-It-Yourself Urbanism Competition 2012

Please join the Architectural Foundation of Cincinnati and the University of Cincinnati Niehoff Urban Studio to support concepts for temporary urban projects for public space in our city. This competition is proposed to identify the most creative visions for temporary installations for the public good that could enhance our use, perception, and enjoyment of public space in urban areas of Greater Cincinnati. Proposals may vary in content from architectural, fine art, or programming concepts, but must be illustrated for a site specific context.

HOW TO ENTER

The competition rules, entry form, and labels can be viewed online(CLICK ON THE BLUE TEXT)

WHO CAN ENTER

The DIY Urbanism Competition 2012 is open for entries from individuals or groups associated with the architecture, planning, art, or design disciplines that reside or operate within Greater Cincinnati. Students must be currently enrolled.

AWARDS

- Best in Show $500
- People's Choice $250
- Best Student Work $200

All award winners will receive a custom medallion.

ENTRY FEE*

- $10

*All entries include reception entry.

SUBMISSION PROCEDURE

Competitors must submit an entry form, entry fee, and the finished work with appropriate labels to the AFC Gallery.

IMPORTANT DATES

January 18: Drop off work at AFC, 811 Race Street, 10 am – 3PM. Entry fee paid upon delivery.

February 7 : Exhibit Opening Reception and Announcement of Prize Winners

February 7 – 15: Exhibit at AFC

February 16: Pick up work at AFC, 10am- 3pm

JURORS

To be announced prior to start of show.

Sponsors: Architectural Foundation of Cincinnati, University of Cincinnati Niehoff Urban Studio, University of Cincinnati

Exhibition Co-chairs:

Frank Russell, Director, UC Niehoff Urban Studio

Kit Anderson, Executive Director, Architectural Foundation of Cincinnati