

DIY

Do it yourself Urbanism

URBANISM

in Cincinnati

November 22
Tue, 2011

5:30pm

This program will explore themes behind the conception and implementation of grass roots urban projects that are collaborative and improvisational. These sometimes guerilla projects bring new life to the city and influence how we use and perceive our urban environment. This event celebrates this work and seeks to promote future efforts in this emerging genre.

Panel presentation and event

Frank Russell | UC Niehoff Studio | Introduction to DIY Urbanism

Tamia Stinson | Pop Shops | Temporary collective markets in vacant storefronts

Pam Kravetz | Yarn Bombers | Temporary Public Art installation on Central Pkwy

Catherine Richards | Future Blooms | Pocket Parks and Vacant Storefront Covers

Tamara Harkavy | Artworks | Box truck festival

Jonathan Sears | Par Project | Curbside Art Gallery

Respondents

Rebecca Williamson | Architect and UC Professor

Vincent Sansalone | Architect, Artist and UC Professor

Coming in January

Competition for best Do It Yourself Urbanism idea, $500 prize from the AFC, and entries will be exhibited in the AFC gallery.

Niehoff Urban Studio

2728 (Short) Vine
Corryville
513. 556. 3282

Corryville Garage

$1 per day

www.uc.edu/cdc

