The University of Cincinnati will cancel all classes on the Uptown and Medical campuses at 11:00 a.m. today including all classes in session at that time. Offices on these campuses also will close at 11:00 a.m. This decision is made with an abundance of caution in anticipation of today's announcement of the Hamilton County grand jury's decision regarding the July 19 officer-involved shooting of Samuel Dubose and the release of the officer's body camera video. We realize this is a challenging time for our university community.

This closing applies only to non-essential personnel. It does not involve the university's Blue Ash and Clermont campuses.
