

SAS
Academic Computing Offer
Site License

I agree to use the SAS Institute Inc. copyrighted computer software products in accordance with the agreement between University of Cincinnati and the Institute.

1. I shall use the software only on authorized hardware. Authorized hardware must be owned or leased by University of Cincinnati, located on University of Cincinnati's premises, and used exclusively by individuals authorized under the agreement.
2. Only University of Cincinnati's employees, any contractors or consultants performing work for University of Cincinnati, and students may use the software.
3. I shall not modify the software.
4. I shall not mask, modify or suppress any copyright notice or other proprietary rights notices in the software.
5. I shall not permit anyone having access to the software to use the software: (i) outside the USA, (ii) in a timesharing arrangement, or (iii) as a rental.
6. The software is copyrighted and contains trade secrets of the Institute. Title to the software remains with the Institute at all times. In order to protect the Institute's trade secrets in the software, I shall not access the software source code by reverse engineering, decompiling or any other means.
7. I shall not use the software for commercial purposes.

If I am an employee using the software on a home computer, I also agree to the Employee Home Use Amendment.

If I am a student using the software on their personal workstation, I also agree to the Student Use Agreement.

- I understand that the SAS software license expires July of the following year, and the license must be renewed at that time.
- I understand the purchase of one license allows a single user to use SAS on one office computer or one home computer.