SOLOISTS

Elizabeth Yeoh is a home-schooled junior from Mason, Ohio, and studies violin with Prof. Kurt Sassmannshaus in CCM's Starling Program. She is a member of the Cincinnati Symphony Youth Orchestra as a violinist and of the CCM Youth Wind Ensemble as an accomplished flutist. Beyond music, Elizabeth is an avid student of astronomy and physics. She volunteers at the Cincinnati Observatory, reflecting an impressive ability, curiosity and dedication across both the arts and sciences.

Julia Lancman, 16, is a Brazilian-American violinist who studies with Kenneth Renshaw in the CCM Starling program. She is a junior at Sycamore High School, where she is concertmaster of the top orchestra. Julia also participates in the Cincinnati Youth Symphony Orchestra's Nouveau Program and in Ohio's All-State Orchestra.

A four-time recipient of the Norman E. Johns Award, Julia has earned recognition in local and national competitions. She has attended several summer music programs, including the Bowdoin International Music Festival this past summer. Her musical experiences have taken her abroad with performances in Brazil and Austria.
